Did You Know?

<https://www.samhsa.gov/underage-drinking/parent-resources/why-you-should-talk-your-child>

Research shows that children as young as 9 years old already start viewing alcohol in a positive way. Talking with your kids about underage drinking and substance use can help keep them safe. Keep up with "Talk. They Hear You." this National Substance Abuse Prevention Month for more reasons to talk.

Start young and help them understand the importance of waiting until they are older.

How to Tell if Your Child is Drinking Alcohol!

<https://www.samhsa.gov/underage-drinking/parent-resources/how-tell-if-your-child-drinking-alcohol>

Warning Signs—What is the difference between normal growing pains and alcohol abuse? Experts believe that a drinking problem is more likely if you notice several of these signs at the same time, if they occur suddenly, or if some of them are extreme in nature. Take a moment to learn the signs and start the conversation.

WHO ARE WE?

What About Alcohol and Drug Abuse in College?

<https://teens.drugabuse.gov/blog/post/why-and-how-resist-drug-use-college>

Your teens may have avoided the pressure of drug use in high school, but college presents new challenges. This 2019 blog post will help you understand the differences and give them some resources to help stand up to the pressure.

Resources for Families Coping with Mental and Substance Use Disorders.

https://www.samhsa.gov/families?fbclid=IwAR1JBjffINleGi0CTatBETNtiqa_tHsLyGWxZPWYzDUgrl4w9kzxJhSfRI

Every family is unique, but all families share a bond that can be used to support one another during trying times. While there is no one-size-fits-all solution for helping a family member who is drinking too much, using drugs, or dealing with a mental illness, research shows that family support can play a major role in helping a loved one with mental and substance use disorders.

State Estimates Of Underage Alcohol Use And Self-Purchase Of Alcohol: 2008 To 2010

<https://www.samhsa.gov/data/report/nsduh-report-state-estimates-underage-alcohol-use-and-self-purchase-alcohol-2008-2010>

This short report uses 2008 to 2010 National Survey on Drug Use and Health (NSDUH) to assess past month alcohol use among those under the legal drinking age (12 to 20) and whether those underage drinkers self-purchased the alcohol. Results are shown by State.
